

Brian Knutsen is a co-owner of Kampmeier Knutsen PLLC with offices in Portland, Oregon and Seattle, Washington. He represents organizations and individuals seeking to protect the environment and wildlife through litigation and advocacy. He has extensive experience with federal environmental statutes such as the Clean Water Act, the Endangered Species Act, the National Environmental Policy Act, and the Administrative Procedure Act. Brian represents his clients through all phases of litigation, from case development through appeals and final judgments. Brian graduated from St. Louis University with bachelor's degrees in Geology and Environmental Sciences and received his law degree from Lewis and Clark Law School with a certificate in Environmental and Natural Resources Law.